I disagree with your proposal to eliminate labeling of foods exposed to = radiation. It is important for the consumer to know what they are = purchasing. Please see that labeling showing radiation in foods is = continued. Thank you.

Since consumers put their trust in the government, it is only fair that the FDA let everyone know that their foods could be being exposed to radiation. Labeling will at least give us a choice as to what we put in our bodies as well as our children's bodies.
